

Workshop “Leadership, what to do next?”

Some changes take a lot of energy, others barely register. Everybody who has tried to implement change will acknowledge this.

Is it possible to use this feeling, to exploit this experience to our advantage? Can we turn the frustration, resistance and stress around and use it to support our goals? Make it easier to change ourselves and others?

Proper leadership can change a lot. This may seem difficult but it might be simpler than we often think. A slightly different approach can do a lot.

“Will they understand what’s needed?”; “Does this amount of investment and effort pay off?”; “Will we ever succeed?” These kind of questions probably sound familiar. For us they do, we’ve heard them a lot in many different circumstances.

This workshop is based on this practical hands on experience We will show you and let you experience things that ofte go by unnoticed. Feel, notice, experience how change can be resisted or, welcomed! Once you get what’s going on much can be achieved with very little effort.

This makes change relaxing and effective. Something you would like? If so, check the other side for more info and contact us.

Ps. Use experience.

Overview workshop “Leadership, what to do next?”

Below you'll find some generic information. Your specific needs and wishes determine the final approach and setup. It's your results that matter after all.

Who

For managers and business leaders but also for people in or out of organisations that want to take the lead. For people who need to get things done.

Why

You'll learn to achieve a lot with little effort. Fast growth, change of strategy, restructuring, mergers or scale down might be business reasons. On a personal level there might be subjects like pressure to perform, stress or motivational issues. But also wanting to learn how to combine passion and ambition with relaxation and results.

What

Leadership in the daily situation of the attendees. That's the material we're working with. You're in the lead which makes it very applicable. And of course we have the necessary hands on leadership experience ourselves.

Group size

Max approximate 10 people so interaction and personal attention can be guaranteed. For larger groups, organisational wide change programs or, at the other side of the scale, individual sessions we have special offers.

Duration

A standard workshop is 1 day and will often be followed by an extra evaluation day. This depending on the specific needs and wish to reflect on the practical implementation.

Location

A relaxing and easy going surrounding. There are many possibilities all around the country and even abroad.

Facilities

Lunch is included. Additional extra's like an closing dinner or team building events can be added.

Cost

The costs strongly depend on your specific needs and wishes. A standard workshop without any extra's will cost you about € 725,- per person per day.
